Figure S7 Surface plasmon resonance. Binding curves between wild-type and mutant (L1/L2) ectodomain constructs in the four possible ligand/analyte orientations. The weak interactions measured when mutant constructs were involved precluded the determination of accurate binding constants. Nevertheless, the mutations appear to cause a decrease in binding (roughly half strength as the wild type Exμ-Exμ binding).